CCQHA's On-line Forum

We recently added an on-line forum to our website (www.ccqha.org/) where anyone can read or post messages about any subject, including CCQHA events. This could be a powerful tool to communicate with past, present, or future club members, and buyers, but only if we get enough activity on the forum to pique a person's interest when they find it. It's also a great place to list items (like horses) for sale.

We encourage all members to sign up for a Free account and do some posting. Let's get some CCQHA discussions going.

Also, we've been working to get the CCQHA website updated with all our 2010 events. If you have any information about our events that is not listed (e.g. patterns, entry forms, etc.) please submit it to the address listed above for submitting info to the newsletter, or submit it by email at: info@ccqha.org
